Interpreting is normally regarded as a translational activity

Interpreting it is like 'Translation' but it is not Translation'

Interpreting is an ancient human practice

The activity of interpreting could be traced back to Akkadian,

The activity of interpreting the ancient Semitic Language of Assyria and Babylonia around 1900BC.

The Akkadian root is targumanu,

The targumanu, gave rise to the autonomous' English term ,, for interpreter, dragoman

The original English word interpreter', goes back from in latin means interpres

Interpreting is immediacy

Otto Kade, defined the interpreting in which 2 source:

The different definitions of scholars for translation

a process by which a spoken or written utterance takes place in one language which is intended or presumed to convey the same meaning as a previously existing utterance in another language (Rabin, 1958)

process conveying the 'sameness of meaning'

the transfer of thought and ideas from one language (source) to another (target), whether the language are in written or oral form.. or whether one or both languages are based on sign (Brislin 1976a)

situation-related and function-oriented complex series of acts for the production of a target text, intended for addressees in another culture/language, on the basis of a given source text (Salevsky, 1983)

any utterance which is presented or regarded as a —translation' within a culture, on no matter what grounds (Toury1995)

So we have 4 definition :

- 1- Is a process
- 2- the transfer of thought and
- 3- a situation-related and function-oriented
- 4- Utterance any certain culture.

interpreting could have the following key areas of theoretical framework:

- The scope of the interpreter's task ----- (mainly production);
- The perspective on the translational process ----- (target-oriented 'production' rather than source-dependent 'transfer';
- The normative specification of the translation product -----
(the assumption of 'similarity' in meaning or 'effect').

Interpreting inter-social and intra-social Settings

1. Business interpreting where communities speaking different languages get in contact with each other for the purpose of trading and exchanging goods, or doing —business||.
2. Liaison Interpreting is a form of interpreting practiced mainly in commercial negotiations
3. Diplomatic Interpreting where the representatives of different linguistic and cultural communities came together with the aim of establishing and cultivating political relation
4. Military interpreting is when relations turn sour between two conflicting armed communities, as when it happens in talks with allies forces in during World War II, truce negotiations or the interrogation of prisoners

5. Court Interpreting : includes task like the certified translation of documents as well as interpreting in quasi-judicial and administrative hearings. One can therefore distinguish between the broader notion of legal interpreting, or judicial interpreting , and courtroom interpreting in its specific , prototypical setting.

6 Sign language interpreting where it normally takes place in educational settings (educational interpreting)

7. Community interpreting or public Service interpreting (in the UK) and Cultural interpreting (in Canada) is where interpreting services are established to help immigrants function in the host society as it is an important intra-social communication need. This has led to the emergence of interpreting practice, with Health Care interpreting (medical interpreting, hospital interpreting) and legal interpreting as the most significant institutional domains.

8. Media interpreting or Broadcasting interpreting which is mainly focused on TV interpreting. This is obvious with sign Language interpreting or even in case of war crime tribunal.

Constellations of Interaction

1. Bilateral interpreting or dialogue interpreting is where interpreting is modelled as —three-party interaction||with a (bilingual ) interpreter assuming the pivotal mediating role between two (monolingual) client. While the former foregrounds the (bi)directionality of mediation, the latter highlights the mode of communicative exchange. Either term seems to be closely associated with what is called Liaison Interpreting.

2. Multilateral Communication Interpreting is as in conferences attended by delegates and representatives of various nations and institutions, mainly called Conference Interpreting..

Conference Interpreting (for national or international organisation) is the most prominent manifestation in our time. It emerged during World War I when negotiations were held in French.

The Definition of a conference interpreter

definition: “a conference interpreter is one whose office it is to translate orally the speech of participants in meetings conducted in two or more languages. His office may be performed simultaneously or consecutively, in the participants presence”. Walter Keiser (Gerver 1977

-working mode: consecutive, simultaneous, whispered interpreting

-directionality: is it face-to-face dialogue, is it 'back and forth' , is it bilateral interpreting

-professional status: are you professional interpreter with special skills or a lay interpreter

SI is often used as a shorthand for —spoken language interpreting

Use of technology

□• Technical equipment is essentially used to avoid the mixing of source-and target-language messages in the acoustic channel.

Professional status

□• Distinction between interpreting types could be related to the level of skills and expertise which the human agent performs the task. This profession requires a professionalism as it is very demanding. That is why it is called professional interpreters with special skills and lay interpreting or natural interpreting.

What is consecutive interpreting

Interpreting after the speaker has finished

The interpreter sits with the delegates, listens to the speech and renders it, at the end, in a different language, generally with the aid of notes.

In the modern world consecutive interpreting has been largely replaced by simultaneous,

Consecutive interpretation is best suited for situations

Learning consecutive interpreting

Although teaching consecutive interpreting is mainly concerned with note-taking, there are certain approaches which usually stress on preliminary exercises to enhance —active listening||, message analysis, and recall, including such technique as —clozing||, —chunking|| and visualization.

The interaction between memory and note-taking stands out as a focus of investigation.

what is simultaneous interpreting?

The term ‘simultaneous interpreting’ ( as the source-language text is being presented) (SI)

simultaneous interpreting’ often used as a shorthand for ‘spoken language interpreting

In simultaneous interpretation, the participants wear headphones,

in whispered simultaneous interpreting, the interpreter is seated or standing among the delegates and interprets simultaneously directly into the ear of the delegates

Learning simultaneous interpreting

It is preliminary exercises that command prime attention in introducing students to the crucial task demand of simultaneity, perceived as the skill of listening and speaking at the same time, by way of —dual-task’ exercises. This involve a listening task in combination with a second, different task, such as simultaneously counting backwards or reading aloud.

A specific exercise in simultaneous verbal processing is shadowing, which is the immediate repetition of auditory input in the same language with either minimal delay (—phoneme shadowing) or at greater lateness (—phrase shadowing||).

What is sight translation?

Sight translation is a special form of interpreting that can be used as a preliminary exercise,
