The problem facing final year students in English conversation, and mistakes that students usually do, at Al Majeed high school in Riyadh

Description:

Many of the students faces many problems in dealing with the English language specifically in conversation at Saudi Arabia . These problems vary between psychological, or educational, or social problems. This research will shed light on these problem types and ways of solving them.

Tools and methodology:

The search will be in a class component of 30 students for a full semester. At the beginning of the research I will do a questionnaire on the extent of the use of students to talk English in public life and its importance. We will divide students according to their own problems with the language, as well as there will be a private interview with students and teachers according to the classification problems. Every problem alone will discuss the causes and ways to solve them , as well as I will work for an open meeting teachers and students to discuss the dilemmas. After that, We will use modern means to solve these problems for example audio CD or photographer audible scene. Next , students will divide into small groups conducting dialogues with each other. Then we will use audio labs in different ways from traditional ways. In the end, we will work some small tests to students to see how they benefit. Will be hired in some of the research articles ,and writings that were written in this area, whether via the internet or experience. Finally it will be referred to in the research, and also to the experience of developed countries in the development of the student level in the conversation.
