

sit down when the religious scholars of the Muslim and Judeo-Christian worlds give them the messages and the confidence to quiet the despoilers of their faiths. The true convictions of faith do not lead us to a dark future. What is needed is the courage to defend those true convictions against those who have blood in their eyes and evil in their hearts.